Family carers are NZ's biggest health, disability, and aged care workforce ...

The unpaid work of carers has an annual economic value of more than $10 billion. Although their contribution to family life, society, and the economy is so important, carers often struggle with the unique pressures of their role.

Providing ongoing care and support for someone else can be stressful, especially in 24 hour or high need situations. It's important for carers to know what help is available so they can access it and have regular breaks.

With our practical advice and helpful information, Carers NZ is here for you. We exist to serve family carers who do so much and need support themselves.

Improving things for carers

Carers NZ undertakes regular campaigns to increase recognition and support for carers, and interacts with government to ensure their role is valued and supported. We also encourage good decision-making and support for carers through specialist networks including:

- The NZ Carers Alliance – A coalition of 50 national not for profits working together for carers. Carers NZ acts as the ongoing Secretariat for the Carers Alliance.
- Young Carers NZ – An emerging national support network for children and young people in caring roles. Join the YCNZ Facebook community: search at Facebook for YoungCarersNZ.
- CareWise – Employers are working with Carers NZ to create a country of carer friendly workplaces to help carers keep working and earning. Learn more about CareWise at www.carewise.net.nz
